THIEVES ENTER BUSINESS HOUSE HERE THURSDAY

Enter Berman Tailoring
Shop, Take $4000
Worth Stock

BELIEVE HAD A TRUCK
Recent Business Addition to City Almost Completely
Looted of Stock

Shortly before 8 o'clock Thursday night thieves entered the tailoring establishment of S. Berman, 408 South Brand boulevard, and got away with bolts of various kinds of cloths, suitings and trimmings, having a valuation of about $4000. This is the estimate of his loss made by Mr. Berman, but a traveling representative of the John P. Ellison and Sons company, from which most of the goods were purchased, states that it is his belief that Mr. Berman's loss will run close to $5000.

Entrance to the tailoring establishment was gained through the rear door, which was "jimmied" open. From the type of job done it is believed that the thieves are old-timers at the game. The jimmy was inserted between the door and the casing between the two locks, and it appears as though it was forced open without a great deal of effort and with very little noise. Both locks were torn from the door, which was split for a length of about a foot at the points where the locks were located.

From all indications the thieves drove a small truck, the rear tires of which were solid. This truck was run across the lot at the side of the Berman building, where it was turned and backed up as close as possible to the rear of the building. With the machine in place the thieves loaded it with about 300 bolts of cloth, all of which was brand new and of the very latest designs, being expensive wools, serges, etc. In addition to this many valuable pieces of silks, hair-cloth and other trimmings were taken, these materially swelling the value of the haul.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter of 107 East Lomita avenue report that at about the time the robbery was committed they noticed a large touring car standing on Lomita avenue close to the front of their house. In this car, they said, the engine was kept running. Other than this no clue which might lead to the identity of the robbers has been found.

The robbery was first discovered by Dannie Berman, 110 East Palmer avenue, and Tom Kennedy of 1206 South Maryland avenue. They had been out walking and had returned to the tailoring establishment. Upon seeing that someone had entered the store the boys immediately went in search of Mr. Berman, who, upon reaching his place of business and noting his loss, immediately reported the matter to the Glendale police. It is understood that the goods were not covered in any way by insurance.

TRANSGRESSORS IN GLENDALE KEPT POLICE BUSY.

Numerous Calls From Various Parts of City Keep "Cops on Hop"

Thanksgiving day was not a quiet one for the Glendale police department. The telephone was kept busy by people reporting accidents, alleged attempts at robbery and other minor complaints.

J. E. Howes, 1122 East 11th street, reported that there was a prowler in the neighborhood and that he would like to have an officer sent out to investigate. A woman living in the neighborhood saw the man and asked him what he was doing and what he wanted. He refused to answer and disappeared. When the police arrived they were unable to find any trace of the man.

A foreman for Peter Tomich, contractor, doing some street work for the city near Verdugo road, reported that someone had taken a number of red lanterns, several sacks of cement and a wheelbarrow.

C. Wipperf reported that someone had entered his home and had ransacked it. Police officers investigated and found that the thief or thieves had searched the house but had taken only a few blankets.

Thursday morning Charles E. Chamberlin reported that someone near Highland avenue and north of Kenneth road was shooting and that the bullets were flying over his house. He said that several bullets had passed over his head while he was walking in his back yard. Officers investigated the report and brought two men into headquarters, who said that they had been shooting at a target and did not know that they were inside the city limits. They agreed to find another rifle range farther away from the city.

A Man, a Message a Multitude; Read the Listening Post

Just a Man, a Message and a Multitude.
You, too, have heard the words the traveler heard and you have heeded them. And though the Man is long since dust the words echo and re-echo and will for all time.

Today you should turn to "The Listening Post" and read what James W. Foley has to say about "The Lord's Prayer."

On the same editorial page Henry James discusses Brind's magnificent speech and Dr. Frank Crane speaks of the Frenchwoman and he says that while to the average American the Frenchwoman seems to be a figure of frivolity as a matter of fact she is about the most practical, hard-headed and thrifty person in the world.

There are other features all of absorbing interest including able editorials on timely subjects.

BELIEVED SEA EAGLE LOST WITH CREW PERISHING

Red Stack Tug Pilot House
Found Giving Rise to Belief of Tragedy

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Nine men were on the Red Stack tug Sea Eagle, which is thought to have foundered off the Portland coast, according to an official statement given out by Captain Darrage of the Red Stack company here today. They are George Gove, captain; Charles Sanstone, chief engineer; Harry Hayes, first assistant engineer; J. Doyle, deck hand; O. Peterson, deck hand; C. Tobin, fireman; H. Anderson, fireman; B. Sonne, cook.

"If it is true that the pilot house which has washed ashore has been definitely identified as that of the Sea Eagle, it looks very serious," Captain Darrage today informed the Glendale Press. "While she might have ridden out the storm without the pilot house, there is but little chance of it. The pilot house has the name 'Sea Eagle' carved in the wood on the outside, while on the inside is the name 'Collis,' the old name of the tug. We are still waiting definite details, however, before giving the tug up as lost."

BIDS AWARDED FOR RETAINING WALLS

The Ambrosini Hotel company has just received estimates for the two retaining walls, 235 feet on Broadway and 229 feet on Glendale avenue. The bids were as follows:

Rommel Construction Co.	$6892.00
E. Schelling	7000.00
Hjorth Construction Co.	4555.00
W. G. Boyd Construction Co.	4251.00

The Boyd Construction Co. bid being the lowest, contract was awarded to them and they will proceed at once.

The contract for the foundation to be let in a very few days. Mr. Ambrosini will have supervision over all the work and Roy L. Kent, the architect, will superintend the work also.

SOUTHWARD SEEKS DIVORCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The tug Samson, owned by a Seattle firm but operated in the lumber trade in this section, which left here on November 17 with the barge Wsttucha in tow for Reedsport, Ore., has failed to arrive at that port, according to advices here today.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The Chinese delegates today sent assurances to Secretary of State Hughes, chairman of the arms conference, that they had no intention of withdrawing from the parity because of objections to the semi-official British view calling for a virtual internationalization of China.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—General Vittorio Diaz, commandant in chief of the Italian army, was today being shown the hospitality of San Francisco. Twenty thousand people crowded the approaches leading to the wharf to greet him when he arrived yesterday. Diaz was the official guest of the city today.

F. Creller, chairman of the football committee of the Tournament of Roses association, following reports that Cornell had been selected to battle with a western eleven.

HARVEY HADLOCK TO LIGHTING SYSTEM IS LECTURE MONDAY IN M. E. CHURCH CHANGED AT BRAND AND BROADWAY

Motion Picture of American Soldiers Will Accompany Lecture

Considerable interest has been aroused by the announcement that next Monday evening at the First Methodist church at 7:45, E. Harvey Hadlock will give a lecture on "Americans in France," illustrated by at least one reel of motion pictures showing "our boys" as they marched down the avenues of Paris. The lecture is in the interest of disarmament and a special invitation to attend has been extended to the local post of the American Legion.

It is being given under the auspices of the religious education department of the church. Mr. Hadlock was engaged in war work overseas with the Y. M. C. A. and on Sunday night will give in the church an illustrated talk on "The Obermergau," which will be illustrated and which will include much interesting information about the players whom Mr. Hadlock has met personally.

GLENDALE PEOPLE GO TO CONVENTION

Heads of Local Chamber to Go to Riverside to League Meeting

Considerable interest is being manifested by members of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in the convention of the League of the Southwest, which will be held December 3 to 10 in Riverside. Secretary Rhoades of the Glendale chamber of commerce is making arrangements to be in attendance at this convention and he is hoping that a number of the leading members of the chamber will go with him.

Jesse Smith, Daniel Campbell, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Mr. Rhoades and Assistant Secretary Sanders have signified their intention of attending this convention. Any others wishing to go should leave their names with Secretary Rhoades at once so he can make reservations in seats and hotel accommodations.

This will be one of the largest sessions of its kind ever held in this part of the country. Among those who will attend are Vice-President Coolidge, several members of the cabinet, and governors of Arizona, California, Oklahoma, Utah, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico and Texas, all of whom will make addresses.

MOST UNIQUE JAIL IN MANSFIELD, MO.

MANSFIELD, Mo., Nov. 25.—America's most unique jail has been located here. The village "jail" is really a jug. The most curiously designed structure of modern eras. The little building is constructed of concrete, 16 inches thick. It is the replica of the half of the old-time whiskey bottle, the exterior being rounded with a tapering of several feet at the entrance. This "jug" has iron bars. Officers admit, however, that without a cork and a handle it is not literally a jug.

Hereafter, the intersection of Broadway and Brand boulevard will be more adequately lighted during the hours of the night. A short time ago, a communication was sent from the Glendale chamber of commerce to City Manager Reeves, asking that this street intersection be better lighted at night. This letter was turned over by Mr. Reeves to P. Diederich, superintendent of plant and production of the municipal public service department, with a request that better service be given.

Mr. Diederich's reply has been sent by Mr. Reeves to Secretary Rhoades of the chamber of commerce. It reads as follows:

"Complying with your request for furnishing more light for street lighting at the intersection of Brand boulevard and Broadway. There are five standards at this street intersection and heretofore, all five lights on each standard have been on until 10 o'clock p. m. After 10 o'clock p. m. only three lights have been left on. I have changed the connection so that the top light of each of the five standards is kept on, and also have changed these lights from 100-watt to 150-watt lamps. I will have these lights cut back to the regulated circuits so that better illumination may be given."

This is good news for the people of Glendale, as this intersection has been practically "dead" after 10 o'clock. It is the general opinion that several powerful arc lights are needed at this intersection, this being the center of the business district.

RED TAPE HOLDS UP CALLING ELECTION

Members of the high school board of trustees met Wednesday afternoon and transacted routine business but were unable to set the date of the election to vote bonds for a new high school site because the preliminary papers have not yet been received from the office of County Superintendent Mark Keppel. The delay is a disappointment to board members but is caused by necessary red tape and the congestion of work in the office of the county superintendent.

SCIENCE CHURCH BUYS CORNER LOT

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Glendale, has purchased a lot at the corner of Central and Lomita avenues, the consideration being $9,000. This piece of ground is 175x194 feet in size and its purchase has been found necessary by the growth of the congregation of the church and the rapid growth of the community, and to provide for future needs while a suitable location was still available.

DIDN'T LIKE CLOTHES
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 25.—The old "rah rah boy" clothes didn't suit the fancies of William C. Swift. But his wife insisted that he should be "garbed as a jellybean." When he purchased clothes suitable to his years Mrs. Swift altered them so as to make him look ridiculous, he declared. So Mr. Swift has petitioned for a divorce.

CROWN PRINCE WILL HANDLE DESTINY OF JAPANESE

Hirohito Today Appointed
Regent With Count
Chinda His Advisor

TOKIO, Nov. 25.—Crown Prince Hirohito has been appointed regent to the emperor, who has been in failing health for some time. Count Chinda will be the regent's advisor—the most powerful position in Japan at the present time. The move of appointing the crown prince regent is expected to have the most far-reaching consequences. Chinda's worldwide experience, it is believed, will be most valuable to the young prince.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Crown Prince Hirohito has been made regent of Japan. Prince Hirohito is being made regent because his father, the emperor, is in such a failing state of health that he can no longer make any attempt to discharge the duties of ruler of the empire.

It has been reported that the emperor, Yoshihito has suffered a complete mental and physical breakdown—that his mind is failing and his body is partially paralyzed. Several times he has been declared at the point of death.

The decision to name Hirohito regent was reached in consultations between the emperor and the elder statesmen of Japan and the crown prince himself. The authority of the emperor's name also probably will have to be given to the appointment.

A definite decision to name the 20-year-old crown prince as the head of the Japanese empire has been reached, the principal Japanese delegates here were advised today.

TOKIO, Nov. 25.—The Japanese cabinet may fall if armaments are not reduced. The people of Japan have the deep-rooted conviction that the Washington disarmament conference will be a success. The feeling that the cabinet may fall if failure looms, is regarded by the people as the best sign that an agreement between Japan and the United States will ultimately be reached.

The people's protests over the deadlock between Secretary Hughes and Admiral Kato have been dangerously indignant. The assurance of peace in the Pacific, the well-informed people of Japan believe, renders the ratio in the number of warcraft a trivial matter.

OPEN LABORATORY HERE NEXT MONDAY

The Harrower laboratory, located at the corner of Belmont street, will be formally opened next Monday night by the Glendale chamber of commerce. Jesse Smith, vice-president of the C. C. of C. will officiate at this opening. C. C. Cooper, president of the chamber, will be in charge of the program which will take place from 7 to 9 o'clock. There will be music and refreshments.

FOUR HUNDRED ARE LEAVING RHINE

COBLENZ, Nov. 25.—Four hundred American troops, stationed on the Rhine since the end of the war, left today for home. The Americans left for Antwerp where they will embark for New York. Their departure was ordered in the natural course of the policy for reduction of the American standing army on the Rhine.

URGE WARLESS WORLD

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Christian Endeavor societies throughout the United States have been urged by the United Society of Christian Endeavor to sign a petition to President Harding asking him to urge the delegates at the disarmament conference in Washington to use every possible means toward the reduction of armament throughout the world. The Christian Endeavor slogan for the next two years is "A Warless World by 1923."

DOCK MEN QUIT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 25.—River traffic was virtually at a standstill here today when approximately 11,000 dock workers went on strike.

ARBUCKLE DEFENSE SHOWS WHAT MAY HAVE BEEN CAUSE

Physician Tells of Supposed Similar Case Under His Care in 1911

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Rain failed to keep away a record crowd at the trial of Roscoe Arbuckle today. A galaxy of witnesses, including persons well-known in London, arrived early from Los Angeles. They were kept in the anteroom off the court room.

Another delegation of movie folk from Los Angeles may be called later to testify as character witnesses for Arbuckle.

Dr. Lloyd Bryan was the first defense witness called. He described to the court a case of injury similar to that from which Virginia Rappe died, which he treated while practicing in Eureka, Cal., in 1911. This evidence was designed to show that Miss Rappe's injury might have been spontaneous.

Dr. George Franklin Shiels of San Francisco followed Bryan on the stand.

Arbuckle's defense fought hard to place before the jury expert testimony indicating that the treatment given Virginia Rappe and no alleged act of Arbuckle's, caused Miss Rappe's death. Dr. Shiels testified that a cold bath such as was given Virginia Rappe, might injure a person. Elaboration of his testimony was prevented by the state's objections.

Arbuckle's attorneys attempted to ask a hypothetical question which would point to a theory that treatment given Miss Rappe might have caused her death. The court, in a sharp clash with the defense overruled the question.

"If you refer to that question again I will hold you in contempt," Judge Louderback told the defense.

"I don't want to refer to it," came the answer.

"Then cease," returned the court with emphasis.

SHOE PITCHERS ARE HERE IN ANNUAL TOURNAMENT

Throwers of Shoes From Our State Gather to Get
One of the Prizes

This morning at 10:30 on the high school athletic field, opened the tournament of the State Horseshoe Pitchers' Association, which is, in a way, the guest of the Glendale Association, an unusually strong organization.

Mayor Spencer Robinson was on hand to give the glad hand of greeting for the city and to congratulate the state organization on its strength and skill, expressing their hope that Glendale will give it such an impetus that by the time it meets next year it will be twice as large.

Glendale players and early arrivals from surrounding towns were on hand for practice games, but soon after 1:30 the regular tournament, in which 53 players are entered, began, with C. B. Thomas of Long Beach in evidence as referee and the state officers present—W. A. Hoyt, president; George E. Krinbill of Long Beach, secretary; and W. H. Nicolas of Glendale, treasurer.

Players had come from Long Beach, Pasadena, Pomona, Redlands, Covina, Newark, Monrovia and a scattering list from other towns. The tournament, as the secretary explained, is divided into three divisions. In division 1, which is for the state championship, four prizes are offered. It calls for 50-point walking games and each man entered plays every other man entered. The one winning the most games is declared the state champion.

Division 2 is made up of three classes and three prizes are offered. Class A is composed of pitchers who have a record of 25 rings and up in one series of five games of 21 points each.

Class B is made up of all who have a record of 15 up to and including 24 rings in five games. Class C takes in all who have a record under 15 rings and in that class two prizes are offered.

Division 3 is a ringer game. Each man entered pitches three games of 50 shoes to the game or 150 shoes to the three games. Two prizes are offered which will go to those making the highest and second highest number of rings.

The Glendale club has given the highest prize, $45, or $25 in cash and $20 in trophies. The Long Beach club also gives part of the prizes, the list including a $20 gold watch.

Mr. Krinbill declared that many people have a very erroneous opinion about the game as it is played today. He says it is no more like the game our fathers played 50 years ago in the barnyard than the modern game of baseball is like "Two Old Cats"; that it takes as much science as baseball or football, but not so many are killed by it.

Quite a crowd of witnesses gathered to watch the pitchers, including a number of ladies, the wives of players, and the greatest enthusiasm marked the opening of the tournament.

MAN OR MONEY ASKS BRYAN IN CHINA'S CASE

China Should be Allowed to Operate Her Custom House

QUOTES PRESIDENTS
Should Take Chinese Into Full Fellowship Create
New Era

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN
(Copyright, 1921, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—China comes to the front in the discussion over the interpretation of the principles agreed upon. The most important question is whether independence in her domestic affairs means what it says or means that of domestic nations shall have a control over her customhouse and its receipts. The question can only be settled in one way, if independence means anything.

Here is a republic exercising authority over several hundred millions of people with education increasing and the patriotic spirit developing. By what logic can outside nations demand the right to collect and apportion customs? If China cannot be trusted to collect her revenues and properly distribute them, what can she do?

The old question arises, "which comes first, the man or the dollar?" Jefferson said the man; Lincoln said the man; Roosevelt said the man; Harding said the man; that is what all the civilized nations say.

The very essence of democracy is the supremacy of the man over the money. Civilization itself depends on the man's superiority; the whole trend of progress is in that direction. They used to imprison for debt; no civilized nation does that now. They still bombard cities for debt and kill innocent people for debt, but it is a waning custom and the Chinese question offers an opportunity for the adoption of a new policy.

No nation can withstand public opinion; public opinion requires integrity on the part of the public officials. The enforcement of international obligations can safely be entrusted to public opinion; especially if the conference creates a tribunal before which every dispute can be brought. Instead of haggling over China's right to conduct her own affairs, the leading nations might better send ambassadors to China, welcome her to full fellowship among the great nations and trust her sense of honor to compel a serious regard for all her obligations to the world.

GLENDALE GOES UP OVER TOP IN DRIVE

Mrs. Peckham Gives Out
News That $1547 Was Subscribed by Glendale.

Glendale, as usual, has come through and loyally met her responsibilities in connection with the Red Cross. The roll call, which commenced November 11, and of which Mrs. C. L. Peckham was chairman, closed November 24, and that evening Mrs. Peckham reported returns of $1547.

No complete list can be secured of the self-sacrificing women who took districts and systematically canvassed them for memberships, but the result shows that fine work was done.

On behalf of herself, the chapter and the women who made possible this fine enrollment at a time when many other chapters are lagging behind, Mrs. Peckham desires to thank Glendadians for their response.

WOMAN HEADS BIG SAFE BLOWING GANG

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 25.—Police today were searching for a gang of professional safeblowers, led by a woman who last night blew two safes in the Whittier-Swan department store in the heart of the downtown district and escaped with $20,000 in cash after binding and gagging two watchmen.

AMERICA AGREES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—American delegates to the Paris conference share the British view as enunciated by Lord Curzon, spokesman of Premier Lloyd George, that France must not play an aggressive military game in Europe, it was learned today. This view also is held by the American advisory council, which does not believe Premier Brind in his recent speech before the arms conference justified the existence of a large French army.

ATTEMPTS END IT ALL

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Ephraim Harding, father of Everett Harding, self-styled "cousin" of the president, attempted suicide at his home here today by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. His act, police said, was probably due to imprisonment of his son Everett on charges of impersonating a federal officer while claiming he was a cousin of President Harding.

ALICE GENTLE SAYS CHICKEN IS BEST OF ALL FOODS

Tells How to Prepare it So it Will Taste Different and Delight

It is very evident that Alice Gentle, the great opera singer who is to appear before the Glendale Music Club December 2, has not been robbed of her domesticity by her life before the footlights.

Speaking of her love of home life, which includes all of it from pink, cooing babies to colorful gardens, Miss Gentle says:

"I have sung in seven different countries and have been a guest of most famous hotels, so the glamour and brilliancy of hotel life has no longer charm for me. I much prefer to keep out of the limelight and lead a quiet life, that people may say that I sing well. And I cannot sing my best if I must live at a hotel, and I will tell you why. I must dine on the days that I sing at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and my food must be of the plainest. It is impossible to secure proper food at a hotel at this hour. Why? Because the real chef of the hotel is having a few hours off. Luncheon is over and it is far too early for dinner. Result: poor food improperly and hurriedly prepared by an assistant who dislikes being disturbed at this hour in the afternoon. So I avoid these difficulties by securing an apartment, for no one loves home life more than myself, and I get too little of it these days."

When asked as to her favorite food Miss Gentle replied quickly, "Chicken, and I will tell you a wonderful way to cook it. First, it makes no difference how old the chicken is, it prepares in this manner. That alone is a decided recommendation for this receipt. Cut up the chicken, roll in flour, and brown well but quickly in hot fat, seasoning at the same time with salt, pepper and paprika. Place in a baking dish of suitable size and cover with milk. Bake in a slow oven from an hour to an hour and a half. It makes no difference how old the bird may be, when cooked in this manner one has the finest chicken imaginable. I always delight in giving this receipt to friends, for it never fails."

AT THE CONFERENCE

SUSPENDED CO-EDS WHO "BUMMED" WAY

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 25.—"No woman student shall so conduct herself as to draw public attention and reflect upon the standards of our university."

This is the rule posted by officials of the Ohio State University. It was announced after a number of co-eds, who bummed their way to another city to witness the Ohio State University eleven play another university football team, were suspended. Other regulations announced provide that all women at Ohio State University must register with Dean of Women Conrad at least 24 hours before leaving Columbus to attend any out-of-town football games; also, that any co-ed who plans to go to an out-of-town game by automobile must give Dean Conrad the names of all those who compose the party, and her chaperone must be approved by the dean.

EDDIE HEARNE IS KING 250 MILE RACE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Eddie Hearne, racing driver, today holds a new world's record for the 250-mile grind. Nosing out a field of America's best pilots, Hearne brought his Duesenberg in at the head of the string on the last lap at Beverly bowl yesterday before 60,000 speed fans, and set up a mark of 2:16:53 for the 250 miles. His average was 109.7 miles an hour.

Tommy Milton tore across the finish line less than a minute behind Hearne. Frank Elliott was third, with Jimmie Murphy tagging him.

BURBANK PLANT IS AN INNOVATION

Dehydrating Plant New Process of Handling Vegetables and Fruits

After a while the faithful alarm clock is going to be turned up 15 minutes and the weary commuter will luxuriate in the additional nap he has been wanting all his previous life, and while he lazily drops off into unconsciousness again, he has a moment of thanksgiving that he lives in a progressive age—a segment of time in which science sits upon the throne and rules with her scepter of convenience and comfort, for he realizes that it is all due to her power that he has the extra 15 minutes which he just knows is the only thing that keeps him going and he marvels that he ever maintained an existence without it.

One day a friend of the commuter who had for years been living in the back woods, called upon him in his city office. "Why," the friend exclaimed, "You are younger than you were 20 years ago—and your color! The barefoot boy with cheeks of tan hasn't anything on you. What's the secret?"

"Don't you know—haven't you heard? It is an extra 15 minutes nap in the morning, oh yes, and incidentally, I suppose, my dehydrated diet."

"But how do you happen to have this extra 15 minutes? The last I knew anything about your early morning regime, if you overslept you had to leave home without your breakfast," the caller said. "Fine, fine!" exclaimed the commuter. "Right there you have put your tongue to the key. I get this additional 15 minutes rest and have my breakfast too, and shy, man! it is the best breakfast you never ate! Just look here," and he took from his pocket a disc, half an inch in diameter and a quarter of an inch thin. "There is a breakfast for a king," the commuter continued. "Sometimes I take a bran biscuit for breakfast. If you hadn't just eaten, I'd give you one of these meals, but they are so hearty that in addition to the food you have just taken, your stomach would be over-loaded, but at noon I'll give you one and you can know for yourself what a satisfying lunch they constitute."

The caller from the backwoods left the office immediately, entered a restaurant and ordered two portions of a roast beef dinner, for fear of an accident.

But science is sitting on the throne and her right hand touches Burbank. There are dehydrating plants standing up all over this land, but the one in this city has gone farther in scientific dehydrating methods than the great majority. Authorities say that about 90 percent of the Burbank plant dehydrates by moist air. This results in a product in which the original flavor, taste and odor has not been reduced nor changed to the least perceptible degree. According to chemical analysis by the California state university, the products dehydrated in the Burbank plant have lost nothing.

By the older and generally used method of dehydrating by dry air, the fruits and vegetables do not retain their natural elements in such perfection; also, and very importantly, it is said that they are more or less burned and caramelized and case hardened, a condition implying that the center is not thoroughly dry. Therefore, after leaving the plant and subjected to ordinary temperatures incident to shipping and handling, the moisture in the center comes to the surface, thereby frustrating the purpose of the dehydrating process.

By the later process of drying by moist air as employed in the Burbank dehydrating plant, one of the greatest points of advantage is that the cellular construction of the product is not broken down, and therefore, when the vegetable or fruit is prepared for use, it does not become a mushy mass, but "stands up" with its natural construction as well as its natural color, taste and odor.

To the layman, the idea of drying something with wet air is quite unique if not absurd and an explanation is very interesting. The process might be briefly and simply told by saying that air in motion, dropping in temperature, loses its moisture carrying capacity, and the water picked up from the fruit or vegetables by the air in passing over them, becomes fog, condenses and runs away; then the low temperature air carrying now a little moisture is again quickly reheated, increasing its moisture absorbing power, and like a sponge it starts its journey over the fruits again, taking another bit of water from the products, and thus, in the course of a few hours, all the water from the products has been picked up and carried away, leaving them in a bone-dry state, in which state neither the molds nor the bacteria nor the other elements of decay can gain a foothold.

Dehydrated vegetables and fruits are used in many ways and for many things other than food directly. The Burbank plant furnishes quantities of dehydrated lettuce to sanitariums as an ingredient of certain diets. It is also used as a base for vegetable compound and cold cream. The pectic acid of the orange peel is taken for use as a flavoring of chewing tobacco.

The Burbank plant has just finished several improvements, including a coat of white paint given to everything and a screening of every part which has not been previously screened. It is hoped to lay new floors in the spring. The plant has two units each with a capacity of two or four tons per day according to the bulk of the product. Besides the usual line of dehydrated products this plant is putting out a line of unfired health foods, and the officials claim it is the only dehydrating plant in the United States which is producing such goods.

B. F. Hulse of Los Angeles is the consulting engineer for the Burbank plant. He is the inventor of the dehydrator and a man of years experience and study of the subject of dehydration. The officials of the company are J. B. Pardeck, president; A. E. Nordyke, vice-president; L. M. Gray, secretary and Genevieve Jackson, treasurer.

There is great interest in the subject of dehydration which has only just commenced to be investigated, and its possibilities in many directions are only dreams in the minds of scientists, but with the progress which the process is certain to make, some revolutions in the present diet system are certain to follow. More and more, through the process of dehydration, food is becoming condensed and concentrated and after a time every thing will be eliminated from food products but the much talked of vitamins. Mr. Pardeck says he hopes the time will not come when we may swallow a little disc and say we have had our dinner, for then so much pleasure would be lost, but regardless of what he hopes, the commuter may realize his dream of an extra 15 minutes nap made possible because his breakfast has been dehydrated and concentrated into one little disc.

Twisted Cords

Running through the telephone cord are a number of delicate, flexible wires.

"Kinks" are formed when this cord is allowed to become twisted, and some of these wires may be bent or broken.

This means a "noisy" telephone line. You cannot hear or be heard as well. In fact, a twisted cord may cause a complete interruption of your service.

Keeping the telephone cord straight will give you greater satisfaction in the use of your telephone.

SHOULD DEVELOP CHILDREN SLOWLY

Too Many Parents Expect
Too Much of Children
Says Noted Woman

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—"Don't tell your child to be a 'little man' or a 'little lady,'" Mrs. Mariette Johnson gave this advice at a meeting for mothers held by the Chicago League of Women Voters.

"We have enough 'little men' and 'little ladies'—I mean spiritually and socially, not physically," she declared. "He's a little boy and she's a little girl and each is as different from an adult as a green persimmon from a ripe one."

"No mother should be proud of the precocious child, because a child who is overdeveloped in one sense is undeveloped in another. The hope of the race is in prolonging childhood."

Too many parents, according to Mrs. Johnson, "have their children in college before they're a year old." They should not try to "make" musicians or lawyers or anything else out of children. Their concern, in the opinion of Mrs. Johnson, is with

BRIDE TO DIVORCE MINISTER HUSBAND

CHARLESTON, Mo., Nov. 25.—After three days of married life Mrs. John W. Sexton has filed suit for divorce from Rev. John W. Sexton, Princeton graduate and pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church here. Mrs. Sexton charges incompatibility.

"It was a very unpleasant dream," she said of her marriage, "and I wish to forget it."

"I cannot understand it," the pastor declares. "My wife has appeared happy since our marriage and I know I was."

Members of the board of elders of the church asked Rev. Sexton for a statement regarding the affair. The statement was furnished.

"We will stick by him," was the verdict, "until he is tried. It would be contrary to Biblical teachings to condemn him now."

POPE READY

LONDON, Nov. 25.—A Central News dispatch from Rome says the newspaper Tempo publishes an interview with Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, who is quoted as having asserted Pope Benedict is ready for a reconciliation with Italy.

the present, not with the future of the child. The kiddies should be permitted to gradually develop themselves.

CHOIR SINGER LOST JOB FOR FUSSING

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 25.—Isabel Miller put too much realism, it seems, in her acting in the love scenes of the amateur presentation of the musical comedy, "Kathleen," presented under Business and Professional Women's club auspices here last week. In consequence she has lost her place in the choir of the Simsbury, Connecticut, Congregational church.

Miss Miller is popular in society and possesses a trained soprano voice. The play was something of a social event, the patrons and patronesses, including leaders in Hartford social circles. Many members of Simsbury society attended and some of them it appears, carried back a tale of Miss Miller's having kissed the hero too enthusiastically. Another singer had her place when she appeared at the church last Sunday.

It so happened the well-kissed hero was Randolph T. Burnham, tenor soloist of the Church of the Redeemer, Hartford—but he has not been asked to resign.

REMARKABLE CELEBRATION

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 25.—Adele Nicholas, negro mammy, yesterday celebrated her 118th Thanksgiving with a bundle of goodies given her by a negro school. According to her records, she was born on a farm in Plaquemine, La., in 1803 and was sold as a slave three times.

BRITISH PAPERS IN ACCORD WITH VIEW LORD CURZON

Lloyd George is Quoted as Pointing to German Mistake as Guide

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The British press today agreed with the stand taken by Lord Curzon, severely criticizing the French attitude against limitation of her military resources. The Chronicle, summing up the opinion of the larger portion of the press, says:

"The door is still open, but if France hangs it, we don't know what will happen to Europe."

The Chronicle, organ of Premier Lloyd George, warned France against "the mistake of Germany."

A reliable authority informed the United Press that Premier Briand may come to London before returning to Paris for the Washington conference. This, it was said, may delay the expected journey of Lloyd George to the disarmament conference.

Curzon, in his speech, declared "if France were to attempt to adopt an isolated or individual policy of her own, she would not in the long run injure Germany and she would fail to protect herself."

"What lies the strength and protection of our great ally across the channel? It does not consist in the valor of her soldiers, great as that is. It does not consist in the strength of her armies, powerful as they are. It does not consist in the inexhaustible spirit of her people or the justice of her cause."

"It exists in the fact that conscience of the world and the combined physical force of the world—including America—will not tolerate the reappearance in the heart of Europe of a great and dangerous power which has always rattled the sword in the scabbard and which is a perpetual menace to the peace of the world."

"We shall convert Germany into a peaceful member of the international court of Europe only if the great powers combine."

This was taken as the unofficial answer of Britain to the speech of Premier Briand made before the disarmament conference.

COSMETICS RUIN PEARLS SAYS EXPERT

LONDON, Nov. 25.—"The woman who uses cosmetics and wears pearls is unknowingly allowing her gems to die a lingering death. The better the pearl the more easily cosmetics kill it."

In these words a well-known London jeweler complained of the women who are continually bringing pearls to be repaired, stating that the color and mellow tints are fading.

"We cannot exactly tell these women that if they cease to smear their necks with cosmetics the pearls will retain their color, and even improve with time," he said. "A pearl thrives only when worn near the actual skin. It deteriorates so badly when worn over a painted neck that after half a dozen seasons it loses a considerable part of its money value."

FLEAS HAVE THEIR OWN SORT OF FLEAS

LONDON, Nov. 25.—A new "flea's flea" with an adventurous history, was rescribed for the first time at a meeting of the Royal Microscopical Society.

The discoverer, F. Marin Duncan, explained that it started life in the underground nest of the bumble bee. These nests are raided by moles, and during the assault the little mites attach themselves by means of suckers in the mole's parasite, the "great mole's flea."

These tiny pin-points of life are obscure cousins to the scorpion, and it is believed that they travel on the mole-flea until they come across a certain underground fungus where they feed and mature.

STRAWBERRIES ON DINNER TABLE

RUTHERFORD, N. J., Nov. 25.—George Buck, of Hammonton, enjoyed the luxury of fresh picked strawberries with his Thanksgiving dinner Thursday. He picked quite a quantity from his garden during the forepart of the week. Some growers in New Jersey report a number of peach trees in blossom, a most unusual thing for this time of year, and due to the warm weather and total absence of frost.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture, you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it deters so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Advt.

Truths in Epigram

The greatest efforts of the race have always been traceable to the love of praise, its greatest catastrophes to the love of pleasure. — John Ruskin (1819-1900).

If a little knowledge is dangerous, where is the man who has so much as to be out of danger?—Thomas Henry Huxley (1825-1895).

MOVIES ON TRIAL

It has been said many times that the movies are on trial in the court action wherein Roscoe Arbuckle is defendant. This cannot be regarded as just in the wide application that it makes.

The movies are on trial in a restricted sense because certain producers having large sums tied up in films featuring Arbuckle, desired not to lose their money. They probably think that his vindication would restore him to favor, and in this they, in all probability, are utterly mistaken. In the sense touching upon personnel, the movies are not on trial at all.

The public has no toleration for the social excesses in which Arbuckle is said to have lived. A vindication as to a specific act charged, could not place the comedian back where he was. His fall was too spectacular and absolute. He fell clear out of the scene.

An illustration of the unfairness of lumping all movie people, and condemning the lot for the conduct of a few, was observed in the recent statement of a Canadian magistrate. Meting out severe punishment for some misdeed, he mentioned Arbuckle and told the defendants that this would "teach them not to be Douglas Fairbanks heroes."

Fairbanks never figured in a picture in any way morally defective. His heroes always are clean, kindly and of noble spirit. No element tending to exalt evil enters into any story he portrays. No vicious lesson is conveyed. There was no excuse for dragging his name into a criminal case.

Arbuckle will have to be judged on merit. Whatever truth concerning him may be revealed, either for good or ill, it must pertain to him individually. The attempt to drag other screen people in as "atmosphere" is unfair to them and to the public.

ADVICE TO LOS ANGELES

Perhaps Los Angeles, being big and self confident, would resent advice. It may be that the friendliest admonition of a neighbor would be resented.

If such is the attitude, Los Angeles is asked to reflect that it is the center of a large circle of cities and towns, that from these places thousands go to Los Angeles daily.

It is the commercial and social metropolis of a rich and growing territory. All this territory is likely to be judged as pertaining to the large city. Thus it has a right to say a few words. It wants Los Angeles to do something to check violent crime. It desires this in behalf of civic reputation and personal safety.

That a city approaching the three-quarter million mark should assume that a police force of the size that conformed to the needs of years ago, could be sufficient for present needs, seems a remarkable lapse of reasoning power. Any conditions that cause an influx of desirable population appeal even more strongly to the undesirable element.

Crimes of violence are of astounding number and boldness. They occur, not under the eyes of the police, but where there are no police.

Anybody desirous of details is referred to the news columns of any day. Conditions are harmful and disgraceful. The crook cannot be eliminated, but generally there is an effort to curb him. The police, doing their best, are doing next to nothing. Lack of numbers makes their activity almost futile, and as to anywhere near perfect performance of their task—that utterly impossible.

TO SAVE EUROPE

In the London Times recently there appeared the statement that the world could be saved only by the United States, through shouldering the burden of world finance.

In the effort to reduce armament this country has taken a step in the desired direction. That is, it has pointed out to all nations how they may save almost incalculable sums if they desire to do so. If they are capable of providing billions for war, their capacity to provide billions for peace ought to be at least equally great.

Whatever lies within the power of the United States, and whatever course it may pursue, the fact is plain that another huge war would be destructive financially beyond the recuperative powers of civilization. As civilization passed from view it would matter but little that at the last its debts were unpaid. The creditor would be passing along with the debtor.

The Times wants America to stabilize credit "by devising some scheme for financing the nations hovering on the brink of insolvency."

There is strong appeal in the idea. America entertains a pervasive feeling of friendliness. It does not desire that any peoples should be in trouble. At the same time it is not competent to work miracles. It could accomplish nothing beneficial by giving money or credit to near-insolvents who would see in this merely the opportunity to buy more guns and pile up more munitions.

If the warlike spirit were to vanish, the troubled nations would cease in time, to be distressed. As the English are wont to say of themselves the nations would "muddle through." They can't exist on a war basis and have the fruitage of peace.

PITY THE REPORTER

When there is a sensational case before the public a reporter writes about it. This is his duty, and more than likely he performs the task well. But if the case lingers on and on, until he has touched every phase of it a score of times, gladly would he drop the whole matter. He is not allowed to do so. In this respect the public is his master. It will have its drizzle of what ultimately becomes piffle. If denied this one place, it seeks it in another.

The Burch case, for example, has not only been exhausted but has become exhausting. The mention of Madalynne causes tears of boredom rather than of sympathy to dim the vision. Obenchain has been displayed until his name is offensive to delicate tastes.

Still the reporter has to grind on. Hence the caption of this brief expression of belief. "He can't help himself. He has a certain set of facts to juggle with, and he plays the game faithfully."

At last Burch comes to trial, or as the faithful and competent reporter has it, his life is "a pawn for the hazard and caprice of a jury."

That was not just the way the circumstance had been regarded theretofore. The general idea is that a man on trial for murder is judged by the circumstance of being innocent or guilty as this may be developed by the evidence. If it is a matter of caprice and hazard, the jury might save time, and not impair justice, by shaking dice for a verdict.

But this is not said in rebuke of the reporter at all. He is a good reporter and a fine chap, but it is needless to tell any old newspaper man, that a reporter tied to a Burch case, is not "up against it."

WRECKING RAILROADS

Suit for recovery of $200,000,000, announced in a New York telegram, strikes the eye as a rather large action. It is brought by stockholders of the Denver and Rio Grande, and is supposed to represent the loss they incurred through the conduct of the directorate. They aver that the property was sold at auction for $5,000,000, being at that time worth $80,000,000. Also that the sale was illegal, and a mere part of a conspiracy.

Two of the sons of Jay Gould are mentioned as defendants. This brings back the memory of the days of Jay Gould, the merry old wrecker to whom the smashing of a railroad was the first step towards complete control. It may be said that his methods never won wide approval. Since his day they have fallen into such complete disfavor that for the most part they have been discarded. Some such plan was tried with the New Haven, and almost destroyed it financially, and applied to the Rock Island, left that splendid property a mere ghost of its old prosperity.

Perhaps the directorate of the Rio Grande is being unjustly accused. Perhaps the Rio Grande, so long an excellent road, fell into the doldrums for force of circumstances actually painful to the directorate, and the small price was accepted in lieu of nothing. The public is enough interested to be somewhat inquisitive as to the facts. As the public buys railroad stock quite commonly it desires to know if any directorate has the privilege of playing with the same stock thereafter.

Some correspondent who uses the name "Americus," and a merry cuss is he, starts out this way. "The government of the United States is entirely in the hands of the international bankers." There is no occasion for reading any farther.

Paris is said to be wearing long skirts. This gives the American woman a chance to show independence. She still wears the short skirt, likes it, knows that it is sanitary, convenient and becoming. If she gives it up just because of a foreign whim, she will fall a little in public esteem however charming she may remain.

THE FRENCHWOMAN

By DR. FRANK CRANE

To the average American the Frenchwoman seems to be a figure of frivolity.

Conventional ideas often crystallize entirely erroneous, not to say malicious, conceptions.

As a matter of fact the Frenchwoman is about the most practical, hardheaded, and thrifty person in the world.

She is not extravagant, because she has been early trained to the practical use of money and because the law of the country and the customs of society provide that she have money of her own from the day of her birth.

The first preoccupation of French parents is to secure a dot for their daughter. It is considered that she will need this in order to get a husband worth of her position. And if she should not marry she will have enough to live on, and her fortune is so arranged by legal ties that she cannot dispose of it foolishly.

She is taught from her earliest years to appreciate the security of a solid financial background.

A recent article in the Times outlines the Frenchwoman's financial position. "She is brought up," says this writer, "to treat money with the respect due that it represents. Neither vanity nor philanthropy is allowed to interfere with investments. To live from hand to mouth is not her way, and whether her income be large or small she lives within it and manages to save."

"To be thrifty is a precept she learns with her alphabet. To be discreet in conversation about her possessions is another. Prudence, taste, and natural intelligence help her to get good value for what she spends. Few Frenchwomen are dependent on their husbands for the money they spend on themselves. The system of the dot has its advantages, and this is one of them. The general rule in a French household is that husband and wife share running expenses and pay for their own personal needs out of their private purse."

A wholesome brake on a woman's spending opportunities in France is the custom of paying ready money for everything. This custom makes it difficult for a woman of small means to run into debt. Standing accounts are rare, and few husbands have the habit of saying, "Buy what you need and have the bill sent in to me."

In every shop and restaurant of France a woman is at the cash box and keeps the books. One gets the impression after a while that it is the women of France that hold the reins.

THE LISTENING POST

A man was traveling one time through the countryside.

A long time ago. It was a fair time of the year and the state of the weather was pleasant.

And he got a lot of delight from the fresh air and the blue sky and the winding of the road.

He was perhaps an average man of his time. Who thought in terms of his business and his family and his own weal and woe.

And did not specially concern himself about the state of things generally. Except as they affected him.

Which is a very natural way of thinking.

And as he traveled along his attention was drawn to a great number of people moving toward a hill top.

Fishermen and weavers and flock-masters and women of their families composed the multitude.

Up the sloping hillside they moved in a considerable body.

It was an unusual sight for the countryside where people did not usually congregate except in places of worship.

Outdoor gatherings were exceptional.

And so the man was attracted.

There seemed to be nothing at the top of the hill to draw them thither.

There was no shade and no appearance of a feast spread, or of jugs of wine.

And still the multitude moved upward along the slope.

And at last they stopped and disposed themselves in various ways.

Many of them sat upon the ground.

And naturally and without apparent prearrangement they formed themselves into a listening half circle.

And near the hilltop stood a man, simply dressed in the garb of his day.

There was perhaps nothing unusual about him except the fact that his countenance was alight.

His eyes flashed and burned with a deep and glowing fire.

His lips moved and he spoke.

But so softly and unobtrusively that the man who watched the multitude from the valley below could not hear a word.

Nor could he see a gesture.

So he left his beast tethered at the roadside and followed a path along the hillside toward the top. Until he stood among the people at the edge of the crowd.

Where he could see the speaker and hear his words.

He was impressed with the simple method of the speech.

Surely it was not a political discourse because it was unrheterical.

It was not the protest of angry taxpayers because there was no heat in the words of the speaker.

It could not have been an ecclesiastical discourse because there was no ceremonial.

There was no incense.

No swinging of censers and no altar or spire or vestment.

Just a Man and a Message and a Multitude.

And it was all spoken so softly and gently and without noise or heat or gesture.

And the traveler wondered and listened for the first word.

For he had come late and the discourse was well along.

And the first words that reached his ears as he stood on the edge of the crowd were these:

"After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven.

Hallowed be thy name.

Thy kingdom come.

Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread.

And forgive us our trespassers as we forgive those who trespass against us.

And lead us not into temptation.

But deliver us from evil.

For thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen!"

And the traveler heard and wondered.

It was all so simple and child-like!

So different from the spirit of the world.

So much set apart from gorgeous vestment and elaborate ceremonial and golden altar.

And as the traveler went his way, he said to himself:

"What a strange thing to say: 'Our Father in Heaven!' I wonder what the man meant by that."

And further along he said:

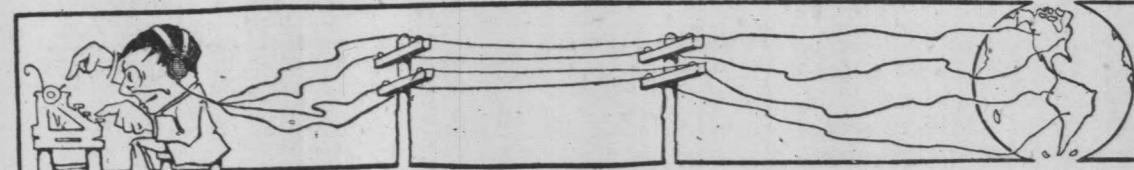

"What a simple speech to fascinate so many people. I wonder what is the secret of the man's power."

And the man is long since dust.

And the multitude is gathered to its fathers.

But the words echo and re-echo and will for all of time.

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

The Breaking—By Margaret Steele Anderson

Bend now thy body to the common weight: (But oh, that vine-clad head, those limbs of morn!)

Those proud young shoulders, I myself made straight! How shall ye wear the yoke that must be worn.)

Look thou, my son, what wisdom comes to thee:

(But oh, that singing mouth, those radiant eyes! Those dancing feet—that I myself made free! How shall I sadden them to make them wise?)

Nay, then, thou shalt! Resist not—have a care!

(Yea, I must work my plans who sovereign sit: Yet do not tremble so! I cannot bear— Though I am God—to see thee so submit!)

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

A fat man of large means achieved his fourth marriage recently. The wives who had tossed him into the discard must have felt amused.

The man who had his pocket picked while on his way to the Los Angeles police station to report the robbery of his house, probably feels that there is such a thing as rubbing it in.

Russia lets her ports fill with silt, and complains that they are not filled with foreign shipping.

Parent-in-law are being sued for alienation of the affections of their son, the son's wife thus tackling an old problem in a new way.

Chicken thieves now use chloroform, and the poultry comes off the perch without a squawk. But chloroform can't be used on a scatter-gun rammed with birdshot.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

INCOME TAX WONDERS

[St. Paul Pioneer Press]

Decoding and deciphering the present income tax law seems to require a terrifying amount of ponderous learning and hair-splitting discriminations on the part of Washington internal revenue officials.

For instance, there is the case of the officer of the United States navy. He requests that he be permitted to deduct from his income, depreciation in value of the uniforms and equipment owned by him, as an expense of doing business. His appeal is accompanied by a set of navy regulations which require that he possess the following sartorial embellishments as a condition precedent to being permitted to serve his country: Special full dress, full dress, dress, evening full dress, evening dress, dinner dress, mess dress, undress and service dress uniform. Knowing that theatrical folks are permitted to make deduction for the wear and tear on their costumes, this simple-minded officer was of the opinion that the same rule ought to apply to those who engaged in the defense of the republic.

The internal revenue sharps, however, judged otherwise. With much show of learning they declared that "while there may be a certain analogy between theatrical costumes and naval uniforms, the latter seem to fall into the category of clothing 'which may be worn' upon occasions which are not of an official character, such as weddings, army post and naval headquarters, dances, receptions, etc."

And because on such occasions the uniforms take the place of civilian dress no deduction for depreciation can be permitted.

All of which shows what a wonderful contraption the income tax law really is.

There are those who specialize. They cry with enthusiasm over the shape of the tenth feather in a humming bird's wing, and are blind to the glories of the most brilliant flower. There are others who dissect with skillful scalpel the mysteries of bone and muscle and flesh, yet to whom the mysteries of cloud and sunset and autumn coloring are as Greek to the unlettered man.

Content with their special sphere of knowledge, they care not for other things.

But most of us are not so. We glimpse the wonders all about us much as the small boy gazes at a three ringed circus. To what shall he give attention first, when there are so many wonders all about? What shall we study, what omit? What remember, what forget?

Much of our capacity for daily enjoyment lies in forgetting. A queer statement? Maybe. But think a minute, and see.

Daily living with family and associates in business and friends is sure to bring us little unpleasantnesses. None of us are so fortunate as to possess faultless dispositions, are we? And others have to live with us.

The happiest among us are those who choose to forget wisely and largely. The failures, the grudges, the slights, the words which were as pin pricks—why clasp them to ourselves to torture and hold away happiness and her shining train? Let's forget!

Let's forget!

Let's forget!

Comment on the News

By HENRY JAMES

It appears that Briand's magnificent speech failed to convince H. G. Wells. This is to be regretted.

Wells says of France, "She learns nothing and forgets nothing." This is not a friendly arraignment, nor can it be said to be exactly fair. France has learned much in the last few years. It is true that she had not forgotten the lesson yet.

The United States proposes a drastic cut in naval armaments, to be shared in proportionately by England and Japan. Were the terms carried out in good faith, none of the three would have reason to fear; none would by reason of the cut be subjected to extra hazard.

Briand says in effect that the land forces of France will not be reduced, because the French are afraid to reduce them.

The alien, but unbiased observer, must admit that the relation of France towards the army does not approximate the relation of any of the three other powers mentioned, towards their respective navies.

Germany's war spirit still is alive. The ambitions that caused one world war were thwarted, but not extinguished. Had Germany by her later conduct won the right to a seat with the family of nations, it is possible that an understanding might have been reached even with France, by which both would reduce their land fighting equipment. Germany has won no such right. Between France and Germany there is no present possibility of an interchange of pledges of good faith.

The conduct of France in regard to her share of reparation, has been severely criticized, and apparently with sound reason. This has nothing to do with the fact that across the Rhine she beholds a relentless enemy to whom she does not dare barge her breast.

The size of the French army, however, is a separate issue. There appears no reason why it should be deemed to have any bearing on the matter of lessening the burden of naval armament.

A young man professing to have a title and fortune marries a girl who believes him. The truth is that he has nothing. His wife has a small amount of money upon which they live for awhile. Meantime he tells her of the limousine and the mansion he intends to buy her.

The police arrest him as a petty swindler, and break up the honeymoon by placing him in jail. The bride goes back to her parents.

This is a recent sample instance. There are many of the kind. Each one gives opportunity for the psychologist and the criminologist to do a little intensive study.

What is the matter with a man when he starts upon a career that must end in exposure and disgrace?

What is the matter with a girl who accepts as husband, the chance male about whose antecedents and character she has no knowledge?

Something is decidedly wrong with both.

News columns tell of the "arrest" of a prominent citizen on a "charge" of insanity, and of his "arraignment" on the charge.

Doubtless all this is formally correct, but it has the aspect of brutality. It puts the unfortunate on a plane with the criminal. There should be separate courts to pass upon the supposedly insane, and while it is necessary to hold them, they ought to be treated with the greatest consideration.

Having left her husband, a movie actress smilingly explains that she had before her a choice between a "career" and home life, and of course had chosen the career.

Sometimes it seems as though a thoughtful young woman of ordinary intelligence would have had in mind the contingency that wrecked the marital bark, before the man had provisioned the craft, and she had consented to come aboard.

The charge is made that veterans insane as an effect of their war experience are mistreated at the Mendocino hospital.

Truth concerning the charges should be obtained without delay. If the charges are based on facts, the sooner there shall be a bouncing of brutal attendants the better.

Ludendorff says in his book: "It is necessary to understand that we live in a warlike time, that struggle will remain forever for the single individual as for the state."

He calls this a part of divine order.

Immediately after the war there remained a hope that Ludendorff and his kind would be retired from the realm in which they had caused so much wretchedness.

Evidently the man intends making the world sorry that he was granted undeserved clemency.

ENJOYABLE REUNION AT MOTTERN HOME

Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Mottern entertained at a Thanksgiving duck dinner, from their own poultry yard. The home was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves of oak, sent across the continent from New Jersey. These beautiful leaves were secured by their daughter, Elizabeth while on a nutting trip and a visit to the Drew seminary in that state. The center piece of the dinner table, so bountifully laden, was a basket of California fruit intertwined with the beautiful oak leaves. Apples from Idaho and nuts from Oklahoma also touched off the basket center piece.

Almost all of the guests, as well as the hostess, were former Gettysburg, Pa., citizens. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parker and son, Stanley, now of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. George F. Daugherty and daughter, Louise, and Rev. and Mrs. Mottern and son, Dorsey.

Dorsey especially enjoyed the company of Stanley Parker, recently from Chicago. During the World war Mr. Parker was in the radio service, having taken special training in that field at Harvard University. During his short visit at the Mottern home he helped Master Dorsey, who is a wireless enthusiast, to a better understanding of his wireless equipment.

Closing this very pleasant day Rev. Mottern, with the aid of a stereopticon, took his guests over the old familiar landmarks and scenery in and around Gettysburg and its famous battlefield.

GLLENDALE COMMANDERY GAVE CHARITY BALL

The annual charity and good cheer ball of the Glendale Commandery, Knights Templar, was held at the Masonic Temple and proved a very pleasant affair, though not so well attended as it would have been but for the great Shriners' ball at the Ambassador in Los Angeles, at which many Glendalians were guests.

The Knights' ball was an informal affair of afternoon dress and business suits, but fine music was furnished by a six-piece orchestra, and when the Thanksgiving refreshments were served, an invitation was dispatched to the high school alumni, who were having a party in the girls' gymnasium of the high school, to come and share them. About 50 couples responded, Frank Balthis, president of the alumni association, making an excellent speech of thanks to the knights for their courtesy.

The proceeds will be donated to the Glendale welfare bureau and to the fund ready for the needy who are personally looked after by the Commandery.

ALUMNI DANCE AT HIGH SCHOOL GYM

The Alumni dance held Wednesday night in the girls' gymnasium at the high school proved to be a social success. Sixty-five attended and spent an enjoyable evening dancing to the jazz strains of the Los Angeles Country Club orchestra. The lighting effect was very pretty, the lights being colored with long streamers, each light being a different color.

About 10:30 word was received from the Masons, who were also giving a dance, that they did not have as big a crowd as had been expected, so they invited the guests of the Alumni dance to come over and enjoy the refreshments they had prepared.

THANKSGIVING DINNER ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Mrs. Adelaide Imler and Miss Cora Hickman were hostesses at a very delightful Thanksgiving dinner and party. Their home on West Park avenue was decorated with chrysanthemums, asters and other fall flowers, as was also the table.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hickman, Mrs. Ellen Kinney, Mrs. Eva M. Blain, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Josephine Cowgill of Los Angeles; Misses Helen and Lulu Johnson of Los Angeles; Mrs. S. P. Stearns of Shawnee, Okla.; Miss Doris Bagshaw of Los Angeles; Miss Edith Englehart, and the host and hostesses.

Following the dinner, which was served at 5 o'clock, a social and musical evening was spent. Miss Bagshaw, who has a beautiful voice, gave quite a program of songs.

BEAUTIFUL SETTING WELLMAN-BEACH WEDDING

There were pretty features in connection with the wedding of Miss Alice Gray Beach and Homer Wellman Wednesday afternoon which were not scheduled, but which were regarded as most favorable omens.

It took place as planned, at 4 o'clock, under the big palm tree in the yard of the A. W. Beach residence. All through the ceremony, the birds were twittering in the branches above, and as the vows were exchanged a beautiful rainbow spanned the sky.

CHARLES CARRERE HOME SCENE OF DINNER PARTY

A Thanksgiving dinner was given Thursday when Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Carrere of 1152 North Louise street entertained in their new home.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Landers Stevens and two sons, George and Jack, Mrs. William P. Wallabe, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hilton of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooper. After the dinner the party motored to the Sunset Inn, where they spent an enjoyable evening.

MANY GLENDALEANS ATTEND CHARITY BALL

Many Glendalians attended the charity ball given Wednesday evening by the Shriners of Los Angeles, which is said to have been a gorgeous affair. Among those who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. William Rattray, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dibern, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tanner, Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. George Herold and Mr. Mrs. Gilhuly.

MR. AND MRS. CLOVER HAVE DINNER GUESTS

A very pleasant day was spent Thursday when Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Clover of 947 North Louise street entertained at a turkey dinner.

The guests were Mrs. E. J. Clover of Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Baughan of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. John Baughan of Patterson avenue, this city, and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Clover and family.

CLAN IS GROWING SEPARATE FOR DAY

The Hobbs-Logan clan has grown so big that they made no attempt to all unite in a family party. At the Andrew Stephenson home on South Central were gathered Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Andrews, Mrs. Ellen Kapus, Miss Helen Kapus and Bert Cartridge.

Mrs. Dwight Stephenson went to Hollywood for a Thanksgiving with relatives of Mrs. Stephenson. Mr. and Mrs. Noble Ripley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ripley, and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Pearson were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Logan who also entertained a few other friends.

The four-course banquet was served about 4 p. m. at a charmingly appointed table, the favors being bouquets of candy flowers that were surprisingly natural. Following the dinner a musical and social evening was enjoyed.

THIRTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Peart, who entertained a group of relatives at a Thanksgiving dinner at their home on East Elk street, provided a surprise for their guests in the evening by celebrating their thirtieth wedding anniversary. At the proper time Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Crist prepared up and Mrs. C. M. Crist appeared on the scene and Dr. Crist proceeded to marry the host and hostess, using the ring ceremony and the same circle of gold that has for thirty years adorned the finger of Mrs. Peart.

She wore a veil and carried a bouquet and was more composed than when she and Mr. Peart first faced the clergyman who made the twin one. During the day the bride was the recipient of gifts from her children and relatives who remembered the anniversary. Preceding the ceremony Miss Dorothy Peart, daughter of the celebrants, sang, "I Love You Truly," and Mrs. Will Peart played the wedding march.

HANNA COOK GETS LEGACY OF $25,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Maggie Maloney, who received $25,000 under the will of the widow of the late Mark Hanna probated Wednesday in Washington, is famous in fiction history, reminiscence of legend as the cook who cooked corned beef hash to perfection. The legacy of $25,000, one of the largest ever received by a cook, is especially notable in this case, because the total estate is valued at only $150,000, so the cook receives one-sixth of the whole amount.

PREMIER BRIAND ON WAY HOME IS WELL SATISFIED TODAY

Declares Lord Curzon's Speech Does Not Utter British Sentiment

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—"The arms conference has been a great success from the French standpoint," Premier Aristide Briand told newspapermen today in his final talk before his departure on the liner Paris for home.

"I am going straight to Paris," Briand said. "I do not intend to stop in London or confer with anyone." Asked how he interpreted the feeling of America regarding his speech in Washington, Briand said: "America knows that France is not imperialistic and I am sure we are entirely in sympathy."

Briand feels that his speech has been misinterpreted in various parts of Europe, where some have given it the meaning that France has become militaristic. The speech of Lord Curzon in London last night seriously criticizing the French failure to reduce her army, caused no stir in the Briand party. It was looked upon as the "natural sentiment of a man who has always been antagonistic to French principles."

"I prefer to depend upon what Arthur Balfour, British delegate to the arms conference, said in Washington," Premier Briand declared, as he waved goodbye to those who had come down to see him sail. "We know little of these family affairs. As far as I am concerned, the expression of opinion made by Mr. Balfour in Washington is the official opinion of the British government."

YOUNG CONFESSED STEALING WHEEL

Robert L. Young, colored, was arrested Wednesday night by Motorcycle Officers Trautwein and Collins on suspicion of having stolen a bicycle. He was locked up while officers investigated his story of having purchased the bicycle in Fresno. He was arrested on a charge of riding a bicycle at night without lights. He told the police that he had purchased the bicycle in Fresno. A telegram from the chief of police in that city said that the story was false. When told what the Fresno chief of police had reported the negro confessed that he had stolen the bicycle in San Fernando. The marshal of that town was notified and took charge of the prisoner this morning.

WELFARE ASS'N. WILL DISCUSS HIGH SITE

There appears to be no diminution of interest in the site to be chosen for the new high school, provided Glendale votes the necessary bonds, and there is reasonable assurance that it will be voted favorably. A meeting of the Glendale Welfare Association, of which Maurice Healy of East Colorado street is president, has been called for 7:30 o'clock at the Broadway school tonight, at which it is expected that many interesting speeches on the issues involved will be made by citizens from Glendale, Eagle Rock and other parts of the district.

HOME SERVICE WORK TO CONTINUE HERE

The home service campaign of the Salvation Army is being continued in Glendale. Donations can be sent to the Glendale headquarters or left with D. H. Many small donations have been received and the "One Hundred at $10 or Over Club" is growing at a commendable rate.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE MUSIC CLUB IS PROGRESSING

Believe Alice Gentle Concert Will be to Full House of Members

Mrs. Matison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music Club, reports that the membership drive is progressing very favorably. Fifteen members from Burbank have been added, and other members from Eagle Rock and nearby suburbs are being enrolled. It looks very much as though the regular seating capacity of the auditorium at Glendale high school would be completely filled by members at the great concert of Alice Gentle, December 2.

There will, however, be a few extra seats provided and tickets for these are on sale at the Brunswick Shoppe, south of the Glendale theater. Non-members who wish to take in the concert should lose no time in securing tickets because they will not last long.

HIGH MIDGET TEAM LOST PLAY-OFF GAME

Glendale high school's midget football team lost the playoff game with Huntington Park light-weight team Wednesday afternoon at Huntington Park. The score was 20 to 14.

The boys from Glendale played a good game but were unable to down the beach team. There were four teams eligible to play for the title of Southern California. The teams eligible were Glendale, Huntington Park, Fullerton, and Pasadena. Fullerton played the Pasadena team and the winner of that game will play Huntington Park for the title.

The team that wins the title of the Southland will probably meet a school from the North for the championship of the state.

Raised Good Fund—Excellent work was done by the members of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church in the recent Red Cross membership drive. In this drive the organization took in $38, which shows that the members were active every minute. The committee in charge of this affair was headed by Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Bradley.

BIG MEETING OF RANCHERS

Called for Van Nuys Wednesday, Nov. 30th

Realizing that only by the closest co-operation can profitable results be obtained and that many peculiar climatic and soil conditions exist in different districts of Southern California, many groups of ranchers and orchardists have made arrangements for a comprehensive study of their peculiar problems.

Since the late tractor demonstration, the tractor and implement firms who have made a specialty of designing tools to meet the requirements of conditions in Southern California, have been besieged by requests from different groups of progressive ranchers, to aid them in solving the peculiar requirements of each district.

The San Fernando Valley ranchers have their troubles and they have secured the co-operation of the Holt Mfg. Co., the Killefer Mfg. Co., and the Dixon & Griswold Co. of Los Angeles, and will hold a field meet where they fully expect to solve problems.

The field meet is to be held on Max Pfaffinger's ranch, corner Sherman way and Woodley avenue, 2 1/2 miles west of Van Nuys on Wednesday, November 30, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., one day only.

The deep tillage tools of the Killefer Mfg. Co., the sub-soller, cultivator and the disc harrow; and the La Crosse orchard disc and mold board plows of the Dixon & Griswold Co. have all been designed and built especially to meet the requirements of California ranchers and are in fact the ideas of prominent California ranchers. The Holt Mfg. Co.'s new small caterpillar tractor, that will be used to operate the tools at the coming field meet, is also a distinctive California product. These manufacturers, through their extensive service departments, work in conjunction with the ranchers and often adopt practical suggestions from the ranchers in the designing of their tools.

The H. G. Pendell Co. of Los Angeles will use one Denby truck and two trailers to transport both tractors and a complete assortment of tools, to the scene of the field meet. Northern California ranchers have attained some splendid results during the last two months, from similar meetings held in the northern part of the state. The ranchers are working on the assumption that all doubts are removed as to the actual results to be obtained by tractors and tools, when operation can be made on the ranchers own land.—Adv.

AIRDALE DOG MAY BE MEANS OF FREEING ARTHUR BURCH

Testimony Will Show Dog Followed Someone Into Hills After Fatal Shot

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Testimony from human lips will not constitute the most important defense evidence in the trial of Arthur C. Burch, alleged slayer of John Belton Kennedy, it was learned from Defense Attorney Richard Kittrelle today. An Airedale dog belonging to Henry Lieser, a neighbor of Kennedy in Beverly Glen, may be the means of acquitting Burch.

This dog, barking wildly on the fatal night, warned his master of the presence of others in the glen. Lieser, who heard the shots and was the first person to reach Kennedy's body, said the murderer evidently took to the hills, because the dog ran that way and did not return for some time. Lieser ran into the road, but saw no one leave the glen, he said. The prosecution will attempt to show that Burch, after committing the crime, leaped into a waiting automobile in the glen and fled into the night.

TO ESTABLISH REST CAMP IN FLORIDA

Four Hundred Men With 20 Officers to be Placed in Panama City

PANAMA CITY, Fla., Nov. 25.—A soldiers' rest camp, where 400 men and twenty officers may be stationed at the same time, will be established at a point on the bay, in Bay County. The soldiers who will enjoy this camp will be from Camp Benning, and the requisites which General Gordon, the commanding officer of Benning, have imposed on Panama City will all be met by the people of this place.

Substantially they are as follows: Donation of a free site of not less than 1,600 feet on the water front, the supplying of the same with water for drinking and cooking purposes, sewerage, and the erection of two houses, to be used by the cooks of the divisions to be sent there from time to time. All the demands on the part of the army division referred to were confided to Mayor-elect Alfred Tyler, and he carried the same back to the people, who at once decided to meet the requirements.

Colonel Drake was the first to visit this section with a party of officers and families, and they were impressed with the idea of a soldier rest camp. The idea was later placed before the commander of Camp Benning, and further investigations followed, with the result that it is practically certain the rest camp will be established. The army officers assert that the plan is to send 400 men and twenty officers to the camp for tentative rest periods, and for four months in the year make use of the site. Squads of officers and men will be sent there, and after a certain time they will be displaced by others from Camp Benning in like number.

PERSHING AIDE DEAD
NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Capt. W. C. Eustice of Washington, 60, personal secretary to General Pershing during the war, is dead following the recurrence of an attack of pneumonia, contracted in France.

One attractive thing about a silent man is that the world is always expecting him to make a big noise some day.

CREAM CLEARS A STUFFED-UP HEAD

Instantly Opens Every Air Passage—Clears Throat Too.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed because of nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing and healing swollen, inflamed membranes and you get instant relief.

Try this. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Your clogged nostrils open right up; your head is clear; no more hawking or snuffing. Count fifty. All the stuffiness, dryness, struggling for breath is gone. You feel fine.—Adv.

AFTER THE DARK

After night and the dark comes the dawn and the day,
After winter and cold comes the Spring and the May,
So the words come to me and I send them along:
Out of sorrow the morrow shall come with its song.

Once again the bare bushes shall blossom and burn
With the red of the rose and the robin return,
And the sap in the dead limbs shall quiver and thrill
And the heart shall awaken with songs that were still.

I shall see the loves come from the distances wide,
Where they fared yesterday, and the tears shall be dried,
And the smile shall come back to the cheek that was wet,
And joy shall soothe sorrow and bid him forget.

And the storm shall be stilled that with fury has dinned
Its discord and strife on the voice of the wind,
And the sob shall be hushed and the glad song be sped,
And laughter come after the tears that were shed.

And the dreams shall come true that we cherished one day,
And the skies shall be blue that were sombre and gray,
And the heart shall be light that was weary and sad,
And the song that was lost we shall find and be glad.

Come with cheer, O my Heart, to the task and the day,
How the journey be long, let us forth on the way,
For so the words come and I send them along:
Out of sorrow the morrow shall come with its song.

PASTOR DIFFERS WITH PRESIDENT

Believes Possible for Nation to Disarm on Large Scale

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25.—"I differ with President Harding when he says that disarmament on a large scale is a matter of changing human nature," said Dr. Irving Maurer, pastor of First Congregational church, addressing a local audience.

"I feel that disarmament on a large scale is possible now, if we only can see what unlimited armament involves," he continued.

"One price we must pay for disarmament is the elimination of party politics from international disputes.

"It is inevitable, if we are to have rest from building $50,000,000 battle-ships we must have an association of nations. The more nations we can get into that association the safer we will be.

"Another cost of disarmament must be a withdrawal from isolation on the part of America. We admit the need of such withdrawal or we would not have called a disarmament conference. We want nothing to do with Europe, but we do not hesitate to mingle in the affairs of the Far East. The Far East is not our only problem. We are learning that 'hands off' may keep us out of the league, but it does not keep us out of economic disaster.

"We may wish nothing to do with Europe, but we find that until European business gets on its feet our own will not prosper. Another European war will mean another war for us; and all of our hiding our heads in the sand won't keep us safe.

"The government of the United States must, also, keep her treaties in good faith, if the armament conference is to accomplish anything," insisted Rev. Maurer, who said the repeal of the canal tolls on American ships is a lamentable example of unfaithfulness to treaty.
